

2015 EMU UCiP Notes

It is safe to say that the mechanics of the conference improve each year, and the addition of EMU graduate students as session chairs and assistant organizers has pushed the conference to the next level. Special thanks to the EMU graduate students, in particular Todd Kearns and Mike Wolfe, for their hard work and help this year.

Dr. Gina Schouten delivered a lunchtime keynote address, which featured thoughts on Neutrality. Her work in Social Political Philosophy and Philosophy of Education were a draw for our students. Thanks to her and Dr. Jeff Behrends for making the trek from Illinois and being available for attendees throughout the conference.

As always, the conference was a splendid success thanks to the hard work of speakers and commenters alike. There is no way to leave this conference without a feeling of awe at the powerful philosophy being done by the newest to our discipline. Congratulations and thank you to every speaker!

Again, the conference drew speakers and attendees from the United States and Canada, including Millsaps College, Weber State University, University of St. Thomas, Illinois State University, Central Washington University, Kansas State University, Johns Hopkins University, College of Wooster, Carleton College, Taylor University, Hope College, Grand Valley State University, Connecticut College, University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Washtenaw Community College, St. Mary College of Maryland, University of Scranton, and University of Toronto.

McKenny Union continues to be a terrific venue, and we will be there again next year.
